

Enjoy our Cotswold Tour from London

Picture the scene.

Your partner is on a business trip in London and you want to escape for the day. You've already seen most of the sites and you fancy something different. You want to have a stress-free, easy trip and be back by 6:30 to enjoy an evening meal in the capital.

You decide on the Cotswolds; after all you've heard wonderful things about this beautiful area. There are rolling hills, honey coloured buildings and plenty of history and stunning scenery to experience.

You want to have everything taken care of – you don't want to have to find somewhere to eat or the best places to visit, you'd rather someone else did all the driving and you want to visit little-known places you'll never find in the guide books.

Our Secret Cottage Cotswolds tour from London ticks all these boxes and more!

Our exclusive Cotswold Tour from London

Not only will you get to visit places only the locals know about, but you'll get something exclusive to tell your friends about. Let me ask you – have you ever wondered what it's like inside a chocolate box cottage? How does it feel to sit in front of an inglenook fireplace? what's it like being inside a house with a thatched roof? And what is a traditional English country garden really like?

That's what makes our tour unique. You get to spend time with me in my home, as well as touring around little-known places with spectacular outlooks off the beaten track. I'll prepare home made food for you that supports local artisans and you'll eat scones warm from my Aga.

All you have to do is catch a train out of London, relax for 1 hour 40 minutes and I'll pick you up from Moreton-in-Marsh railway station ready to begin your tour!
