

Day trip from London to Cotswolds

If you're looking for a day trip from London to Cotswolds, you've come to the right place!

Just 1 hour 40 minutes from the capital, your exclusive and unique Cotswold Tour awaits. All you have to do is board a train at LONDON – Paddington, relax while the stunning countryside passes by the window and I'll be there to pick you up from Moreton-In-Marsh train station in our luxury Mercedes minibus.

You don't have to do anything except relax. I know all the best places to visit – many of which you won't find in the guidebooks and they're certainly inaccessible by public transport! Your day trip will be interspersed with trips back to my 500 year old listed cottage where you'll enjoy tea, coffee and pastries in the morning, a generous buffet lunch and of course, a traditional English cream tea served on Spode china – the scones will be served warm and fresh from the Aga.

Depending on the time of year you can enjoy sitting in the garden or get cosy in front of one of the three inglenook fireplaces. And you're welcome to look around my home, exploring the winding stairs and floors, made from original oak planks.

By assessing what different nationalities would like to see and with extensive knowledge of the local area, I consistently deliver a bespoke memorable tour that is guaranteed to please everybody with plenty of surprises.

With only seven passenger seats in the minibus, you're guaranteed that you can choose when you'd like to stop and take your pictures; which is a nice feature our guests appreciate.

Reviews about our day trip from London to Cotswolds

But don't just take my word for it; we have rave reviews on Trip Advisor.

Arielle describes it as "A memorable and fun day trip from London!"

Michael said "We were picked up at the local train station after an easy 1.5 hour train ride from Paddington Station and taken to the delightful Secret Cottage, which looks like something Disney created!"

Gigi said "Becky is able to meet you at the train station, take you to her thatched cottage for breakfast, drive you through the Cotswolds, feed you lunch back at her cottage, drive you out again for walks through several villages and Cotswolds highlights, bring you back to her lovely garden for high tea and return you to the train station all in one day."

If you're ready to enjoy an exclusive day trip from London, I'd love to meet you! Book your tour now.
